abbove.

Connectivity

Connect Abbove to all your data sources and save up to hours of time

Are you tired of endlessly copy pasting data from different sources in long, complex Excel files? We get that. That's why you can connect your databases to Abbove to automatically collect all data in one platform, without any manual effort.

How does it work?

There's different ways to connect Abbove to your other data sources. Together we will define the solution that's best adapted to your needs.
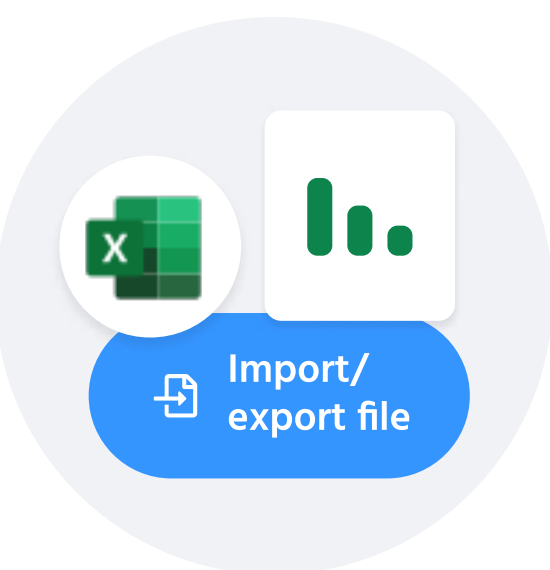

Abbove API

Thanks to our API, robust integrations can be made to have your information systems communicate automatically with Abbove.

File Integration Framework

With the custom integrations we build for you, your systems can automatically exchange files containing data updates with Abbove.

File import and export

You can easily import and export external Excel files from and to Abbove to automatically update data on your client's assets.

Account aggregation

Your clients can easily connect their financial institutions to Abbove so you can rely on real-time account data at all times.

Key benefits

1

One tool with data from multiple systems

Managing data in different systems is difficult. And what is even more difficult is to build a global picture of your client's situation from all that scattered information. By connecting your systems and databases to Abbove, you'll have at your disposal one tool that contains all data you need and offers this global picture in a second.

2

An always up-to-date database without a second of time spent

Of course, your client data are not static and your job isn't done by simply collecting them. Your database has to be maintained and updated on a regular basis, which is a constant and time-consuming task. But why bother when Abbove can do it for you? Having your systems connected to Abbove not only allows you to centralise your data in one place, but also makes sure they are automatically updated from one system to another without any effort from your side.

3

A qualitative and reliable 360° view of your client's situation

Whichever way you choose to connect your systems to Abbove, you can be sure that your data will be updated automatically and, even more important, correctly. This way, you always have an accurate information base to rely on.